GLORIETA, N. M. — Sixteen years ago this month a teen-age boy named James W. Buie walked down the aisle of a church in Natchez, Miss., to volunteer his life for foreign mission service. On August 19, in the opening session of the Foreign Mission Conference at Glorieta Baptist Assembly, Mr. Buie was appointed a Southern Baptist missionary to Spain.

He told the Foreign Mission Board that at the age of 17 he wrote these words on the flyleaf of his Bible, "Saved and surrendered on September 9, 1948," describing his experience of accepting Christ as Saviour and surrendering to him for full-time service.

During the next year he searched for God's will. "He impressed on me a burden for foreign missions from which I have never been able to separate myself," Mr. Buie said, citing several missionary biographies which influenced him. A missionary to Nigeria was conducting a revival meeting in his church when he made public his commitment to missions.

Mr. Buie is now pastor of Woodville Heights Baptist Church, Jackson, where he has served for three and a half years. His previous pastorates include Franklin Baptist Church, Flora, Miss., and churches in Texas and Louisiana. He also was associate pastor of McDowell Road Baptist Church, Jackson.

Reared in Natchez
Born and reared in Natchez, he attended Tennessee Temple College, Chattanooga, and graduated from Mississippi College, Clinton, with the bachelor of arts degree and from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas, with the bachelor of divinity degree.

Mrs. Buie is the former Christine Griffith, of Tallahassee, Ala. She attended Tennessee Temple College (where she and Mr. Buie met) and graduated from Mississippi College with the bachelor of arts degree.

She told the Board she made a commitment to special service when she was 15 and volunteered for missions three years later.

Mr. and Mrs. Buie have an 18-month-old son, Gregory Stephen.

They were among the 19 career missionaries appointed at Glorieta. They bring the overseas mission staff of

Baptist Volunteers Launch US-2 Corps

RIDGECREST, N. C. (BP) — Twenty volunteers, all recent college graduates, were commissioned here as the first of Southern Baptists' newly-formed US-2 Missions Corps.

The commissioning of these first volunteers for the corps by the denomination's Home Mission Board took place at Ridgecrest Baptist Assembly.

It was one year to the date since the mission agency, at its mid-year meeting at the same assembly, had created the US-2 Corps.

US-2, a term designating the area of service and the length of years of service, is a missionary appointment by the mission agency for recent college graduates.

Their appointments were to such areas as Alaska, Hawaii and Panama; to such needs as mission centers, juvenile rehabilitation, and to such service as mission pastors and youth directors.

Behind these appointments were unmet personnel needs and a growing knowledge of mission opportunities.

Despite the mission agency's record number of nearly 2500 missionaries under appointment, the board reports critical needs in certain areas.

Stand in Breach
Standing in the breach will be these 20, with 25 more expected to be appointed next year.

Ingraham Given Surprise Honor

GLORIETA — Dr. Harold E. Ingraham, director of the Sunday School Board's Service Division, Nashville, was honored at a surprise dinner August 14 at Glorieta (N.M.) Baptist Assembly.

Hosted by Wayne E. Todd, church library department secretary, the dinner was given in recognition of Dr. Ingraham's retirement after 43 years of service with the board.

"We have known all the way through," said Todd, a service division department secretary, "that this man who gives us supervision believes in what he is doing."

"I have always known that I could have his ear and he would listen. I have always known that he had confidence in what we in the department were trying to do. We are indebted to him for all he has done in the name of Jesus Christ."

After expressions of appreciation from seven persons working with church libraries over the nation, the honoree received a standing ovation from about 225 board employees and personal friends.

Dr. Ingraham worked for 20 years as Sunday School department association secretary of the Sunday School administration area of the board. Before becoming director of the service division, he served as business manager.

Hubert B. Smothers, now assistant to Dr. Ingraham, will assume duties as service division director after the latter's retirement Feb. 28, 1966.

Shackleford Will Edit Indiana Baptist Paper

INDIANAPOLIS (BP)—Alvin C. Shackleford of Dallas has been elected editor of the Indiana Baptist and director of public relations for the State Convention of Baptists in Indiana. He will assume the position Oct. 1 with offices here.

Shackleford, 33, has been technical director of the public relations office of the Baptist General Convention of Texas for four years. Pre-

Assemblies Will Keep Same Plan

NASHVILLE — The matter of the advisability of changing the schedules at Ridgecrest (N.C.) and Glorieta (N.M.) Baptist Assemblies to a calendar week rather than a Thursday-Wednesday week was considered by the assemblies committee of the Sunday School Board when it met in July.

The request for a study of this matter had come to the board from the floor of the Southern Baptist Convention in Dallas.

Following the committee's study and analysis, the board agreed that the present system is best for these reasons:

The time available for program presentation is at a maximum under the present system. Six full days of programs cannot be arranged under other systems.

In order to reach an economic break even, the assemblies need to provide as many days of program materials for as many people as possible. Previous experience in using a calendar week showed an average attendance of four days a week.

The climactic Sunday is possible under the present system. Sunday School, Training Union, and worship experiences are prepared for and carried out in the model manner that gives inspiration to church leaders. The response to God's call to conversion, dedication, and life time mission service is emphasized during such days.

Travel on Sundays would be required if the calendar week were used.

CAREY GRADUATION—Two students depart from Tatum Court, administration building of Carey College, Hattiesburg

College Opening Looms

On-To-College Day, to be observed Aug. 29 in many Southern Baptist churches, will emphasize the college student's opportunity and responsibility for Christian evangelism, according to Rev. Ralph B. Winders, director of the Department of Student Work of the Mississippi Baptist Convention Board.

The theme, "We Are His Witnesses," was selected and the program outline was developed to challenge students to this task, according to David K. Alexander, secretary of the Department of Student Work of the Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tenn.

The purposes of this annual emphasis are to recognize college students, to challenge them to live as Christians on campus, and to prepare them for college.

Many of these students will be attending one of the four colleges maintained by Mississippi Baptists—Blue Mountain, William Carey, Clarke Memorial and Mississippi College, in

Mississippi College

One hundred-forty years old, but still possessing the vigor and vitality of ripe adolescence—this is Mississippi College.

The largest and oldest among Mississippi Baptists' educational institutions, Mississippi College unlocks its doors for the 140th session on September 12 with visions of its greatest year in history.

Enrollment will be up, new facilities will be in use, additional courses will be offered, and an increased and more learned faculty will be on hand to offer quality instruction in the historic college founded and maintained to "provide academic excellence in an atmosphere of Christian dedication."

The fall session will officially begin on Sunday, Sept. 12, with the arrival of all freshmen and a small contingent of upperclass students. Residence halls for the newcomers will open at 1 p.m. Faculty hosts and student guides

William Carey College

As members of the faculty and staff of William Carey College complete preparations for the opening of the new session, they look forward to the expansion of several departments and an increase in the number of enrolled students.

The fall enrollment is expected to reach the present maximum of 800 when the academic year gets under way on September 12. This includes a maximum of 500 single boarding students and 300 community-housed married students and day students.

Fall registration for continuing students will be held on September 16, 17. Freshmen will register on September 17, 18, with classes actually beginning on September 20.

Dormitories will be open to all new students on Sunday afternoon, September 12, when members of the Executive Council of the Student Government Association and the Baptist Student Union will join the administration in welcoming them to the Carey campus.

An intensive orientation program will begin the following morning and will addition to those attending the Gilfoy School of Nursing at Mississippi Baptist Hospital, Jackson.

Many others will be attending one of the other colleges or schools in this or other states. In most of these is a Baptist director of student work who will assist the Baptist student in becoming identified with a nearby Baptist church.

Mr. Winders has urged pastors to write to student directors, listed on page 6, giving them information about students from their churches.

Blue Mountain College

The ninety-third session of Blue Mountain College will get under way with the opening of residence halls on Monday, September 6.

Orientation for freshmen and transfer students is scheduled for Tuesday, September 7. Registration for all students will be held on Wednesday, September 8. Formal exercises are open to the public on Thursday, September 9, at 10:00 a.m. in Modena Lowrey Berry Auditorium.

Dr. Chester E. Swor, nationally known religious youth counselor, lecturer, inspirational speaker, world traveler, and great friend of Blue Mountain College, will be the principal speaker for the occasion. His announced subject is "Blue Mountain College: The best is yet to be."

Student Rush Week activities for the new session will reach a climax on Saturday evening, September 11, when

Clarke Memorial College

The opening assembly of the fifty-eighth session at Clarke College will be held on Thursday, September 9, at 10:40 a.m. On this day also classes will begin on regular schedule. From the increased number of applications it is expected that the enrollment will be the highest in many years. Both dormitories will be filled to capacity as will the housing for married students.

Dormitories will be open for freshmen on Sunday afternoon, September 5, with the first meal in the cafeteria that evening. Monday will be given to a testing program for new students beginning at 8:30 a.m. An orientation program for new students will be Monday evening at 7:30 in the Auditorium.

On Tuesday faculty advisors will meet with the students for individual conferences about their schedules—with freshmen and sub-collegiate students in the morning and sophomores in the afternoon.

Wednesday will be Registration Day, with sophomores registering in the morning

Alaska Baptists Meet

COLLEGE, Alaska (BP)—Meeting at the University of Alaska campus here, messengers to the Alaska Baptist Convention (Southern Baptist) were told they have been "failing to challenge young people and... compete for their time and energy."

The reminder was from their outgoing president, a layman, James Whisenant of College, a public school athletic coach.

Whisenant, the first layman president of the state Baptist group, added the convention—"the largest Protestant denomination in the state"—has "done pretty well at reaching primaries and adults" while failing to get through to young people.

He criticized the negative approach in young people's work, giving them a list of "don't do" rather than offering them "positive understanding."

In a partial response to his message, the convention voted to seek ways to secure a full-time minister to serve the University of Alaska campus.

Other action of the Alaska Baptist Convention included the adoption of a 1966 Cooperative Program budget of $67,348 with 28 per cent of it going to national and world missions through the Southern Baptist Convention.

The total budget for the coming year is $176,863, counting supplements from two SBC agencies for jointly promoted church educational and state mission work.

The convention also opposed any more liberal view of gambling and liquor traffic by state lawmakers and enforcement officers. It urged expanded literacy missions.

State Man Given New HMB Post

ATLANTA (BP) — The Southern Baptist Home Mission Board here asked the dean of its theological institute in Panama to become its first general missionary to language groups in Florida.

Hubert O. Hurt, a native of Louisville, Miss. and a former missionary to Cuba, takes the position effective Sept. 1, leaving the Panama work at Arraijan where he has been since 1961.

In Florida, the Hurts, who have two children, will work with the many language groups of the state. Southern Baptists now have extensive work with the Spanish-speaking, many of them Cuban refugees. Other work is with Italians, Russians, Polish, Chinese, and Seminole Indians.

Hurt will assume some of the work of Robert Fricke, now a missionary in Mexico and former director of Spanish work for the Miami Baptist Association in Florida.

However, he will serve with all of the state's associations which have language missions needs and opportunities.

"Hurt's extensive missions experience will enable him to lead in discovering needs and opportunities, and in meeting these needs by enlisting the churches to witness through classes or other organizational units," said Loyd Corder of Atlanta, secretary of the language missions department for the board.

The Board appointed two board members and 13 missionaries. The appointed missionaries, along with 13 associate missionaries, brought the total under appointment to 2,496.

Thomas Jackson Durrett Jr. and William Lee Rainwater, both of Atlanta, were elected to fill vacancies all new girls will pledge membership in one of the three extracurricular social organizations fostered at the College: Eunomians, Euzelians, and Modenians.

Theme Set

Theme of the opening of the session will be projected through the year as Blue Mountain College begins the session with a new president, E. Harold Fisher, a new business manager, D. H. Guyton, and the following outstanding additions to the faculty: Miss Janice Bottom, Knoxville, Tennessee, Director of the Department of Physical Education; Miss Nancy Ann Ellis, Ocala, Florida, Instructor in Voice; Melvin Alford, Brookhaven, Assistant Professor of Music; Miss Anna B. Holt, Finley, Tennessee, Professor of French and German; Mrs. James P. White, English; Mrs. Larry McRae, Psychology; Mrs. William N. Washburn, Social Science; and Mrs. James Russell Lewis, Batesville, Director of Student Teaching.

Records indicate that more room deposits were received by the College for the ninety-third session than have been on file since the national college enrollment increases of the World War II period. Although the majority of students who will arrive on the Blue Mountain College campus are Mississippians, students will enroll from twenty-three states, three foreign countries, and all parts of Mississippi. The largest number of Mississippians to enroll are from the twenty-four

779 Enrolled

During the eleven-month period beginning September 10, 1964, and closing August 13, 1965, a total of 779 individuals enrolled in Blue Mountain College, thereby availing themselves of the advantages of Christian education as provided by Mississippi Baptists in the oldest senior college for women in the state. There were 335 regular and special students enrolled in the 1964-65 annual session; 213 students enrolled in the 1965 summer session; and 231 elementary teachers of North Mississippi enrolled for the 1965 summer workshop, which featured Music, Art, and Modern Arithmetic.

Outstanding Department

On May 30, 1965, the College graduated the first group of Physical Education majors in its history. Miss Johnnie Armstrong, who will be on leave to complete her doctorate, assisted by Miss Evelyn Blount, has developed an outstanding department. The Physical Education Building, with its completely modern equipment, provides all necessary facilities for preparing girls to pursue a career in the field of physical education.

Blue Mountain College is now completing an extensive and thorough renovating program for Lowrey, Hearn, and Jennings Residence Halls. Plans are under way to make provisions for additional dormitory space for girls.

Blue Mountain College suffered the loss of its beloved president, Dr. Wilfred C. Tyler, during the last academic session. The college business manager for the past thirty-nine years, J. E. Buchanan, is retiring. Yet because of what these outstanding men, along with the other leaders of the College, have made possible, it is expected that under the new leadership, the idea expressed in the theme for the opening of the session will be a reality.

"These volunteers are assigned to strategic and difficult areas of the United States, Panama, or Puerto Rico," said Nathan Porter of Atlanta, associate secretary of the agency's personnel department.

"While this is an adventure in sacrificial mission service," he said, "it is a way of meeting critical needs. We expect to have 50 volunteers in continuous service. As these terminate their service, others will take their place."

Sixteen of the 20 have served the mission agency before as student summer missionaries. Some have had specialized training as teachers, pastors, student workers and music leaders.

The American Bible Society, which begins its 150th year in May 1965, has since 1816 actively aided publication and distribution of Scriptures in 1,232 languages and dialects.

Letter From England

By Dr. Bob Ramsay, Pastor
First, Brookhaven

Last Friday, August 6th, we left for the land of Bunyan and Carey, passing through the City of St. Albans (Roman Verulamium), the Capital of England during Roman days. Our hearts beat high with joy as we entered the City of Bedford where Bunyan spent twelve years in jail because he preached his convictions. It was during this time that he wrote Pilgrim's Progress.

In the John Bunyan Museum we saw The Tinker's Iron Violin, the little Jug in which blind Mary used to carry soup to her father when she took him his supper, and the Pulpit from Zoar Street Chapel, Southwark, where John Bunyan preached in 1687. Of course the most impressive relic was the Prison Door which stands in the vestibule of the John Bunyan Baptist Church. The only light and ventilation reaching Bunyan and his fellow prisoners, called "companions in distress," were through the aperture in the door, 10 in. by 32 in., guarded by six stout iron bars.

We left Bedford for Elstow and The Moot Hall where he was converted, with the thought pounding in our minds which Bunyan expressed that he must be "all in God."

F. T. Wells, the keeper of the museum gave us the words which expressed his devotion to his family, but an even greater devotion to Christ. "The parting with my wife and poor children hath often been to me in prison as the pulling of the flesh from the bones, especially my poor blind child who lay nearer to my heart than all besides. Oh! the thoughts of the hardships I thought my poor blind one may go under would break my heart to pieces. Poor child, thought I, what sorrow must thou have for thy portion in this world. Thou must be beaten, must beg, suffer hunger, cold, nakedness, and a thousand calamities, though I cannot now endure the wind should blow upon her." These were moments of soul-searching. What about my conviction? Would I dare to so suffer for Christ's sake? Baptist legacy is a constant call to greater devotion to Christ and His work.

In Elstow Abbey Church there is a plaque to Bunyan which says, "To the memory of Bunyan and to remind all Christian people of 'The Holy War' they should be engaged in on the side of Emmanuel." It was in this church that he heard a sermon in the morning service which resulted in his conversion that afternoon.

Across from the church where the market was usually held John Bunyan was playing tipcat when he was overwhelmed. According to the record, he had struck his 'cat' one blow, and was about to strike it again, when 'A voice did suddenly dart from Heaven.' 'Wilt thou leave sins and go to Heaven; or have thy sins and go to Hell?' At this he said, "I was put to an exceeding maze. Wherefore laying my cat upon the ground, I looked up to heaven, and was as if I had with the eyes of my understanding, seen the Lord Jesus looking down upon me." There on the Village Green is the Moot Stone which marks his place of conversion.

There is no question about his conversion. His life was a living testimony to the reality of his new birth; and, by contrast, a rebuke to us who have received so much and have given so little. Said Bunyan, "My marks and my scars I carry with me to be a witness of for me, that I have fought His battle who now will be my Rewarder."

Kettering

Our next stop was at Kettering, where we were royally received by a noble deacon who quite obviously was proud, humbly so, of Andrew Fuller Baptist Church and the mighty influence of the man for whom it was named. It was Rev. Andrew Fuller who said to William Carey, the father of modern missions, "If you will go down in the hole, we will hold the ropes." So Fuller was to Cary in England what Rice was to the Judsons.

In Widow Wallis' house, we paused in the very room where the British Foreign Missionary Society was founded on October 2, 1792. Beeby Wallis was a man of great wealth who gave liberally to his church; and after his death, Widow Wallis continued to use her husband's wealth for the work of the Kingdom. Because of the ability and devotion of Widow Wallis, it was only natural that they should meet in her home for such an occasion.

Later, while William Carey established his great work in India, Andrew Fuller, the Society's first Secretary, fulfilled his promise to "hold the ropes" at home—by travelling, preaching, begging, in London, the Midlands, Bristol, Scotland, and Ireland. In Moulton, we visited the

Broadman Publishes First Carey Biography For Youth

NASHVILLE — "The Shoe-Leather Globe: A Life of William Carey," recently published by Broadman Press, is the first biography of the "Father of Modern Missions" written for youth.

The author, Saxon Rowe Carver, presents Carey as a tree-climbing, ball-playing, butterfly-catching boy who kept tadpoles in a window shelf. She shows his life as an example of industriousness, Christian dedication, and commitment to a missionary ideal.

The central theme of the book is a man's absorption with a dream and his realization of that dream in the face of unbelievable obstacles.

"The Shoe-Leather Globe" has 184 pages with 12 full-page illustrations by Paul Granger, a New York artist who has illustrated numerous Sunday School board periodicals for youth.

The book is Mrs. Carver's third contribution to Broadman's Junior Biography series (10-14 reading age). Others are: "William Colgate, Carey Baptist Church, saw the sacred pulpit from which he preached, the cobbler's shop just down the street where he repaired shoes and studied in the Hebrew and Greek languages as God prepared him to show those of his day, and all after him, what it means to carry out the Great Commission. If we could only capture the vision of Fuller and Carey, our mission offerings would double and more of our young people would respond to the call of Christ for a needy world!

We closed the day in Stratford-on-Avon, where we saw on stage Shakespeare's "The Comedy of Errors." More later!

Yeoman of Kent" and "Ropes to Burma, the Story of Luther Rice."

Mrs. George Alexander Carver Sr., a resident of Louisville, was a missionary teacher at University of Shanghai from 1931-1940. In 1960 she taught at Hong Kong Baptist College. She has also worked as a school and church librarian.

"The Shoe-Leather Globe" and other books by Mrs. Carver are available at Baptist book stores.

Two Churches Register Libraries

NASHVILLE—Two Mississippi churches are among 43 churches in 17 states and Hong Kong that registered new church libraries in July with the Sunday School Board's Church Library Department.

Mississippi churches with new libraries are: First Church, Fulton, with W. M. Daves, pastor, and Mrs. D. C. Harden, librarian; and New Hope Church, Meridian, with John D. Hopper Jr., pastor, and Mrs. Luther D. Walker, librarian.

GUATEMALA MISSION HAS ANNUAL MEET

The Guatemala Baptist Mission held its annual meeting in Quezaltenango, July 19-23, with nine of the 10 Southern Baptist missionary families under appointment for the country being present.

The 10th couple were appointed by the Foreign Mission Board a few days before the Mission meeting. They expect to begin language study in Guatemala in September.

Devotional speaker for the meeting was Dr. R. Cal Guy, professor of missions at Southwestern Seminary, Fort Worth, Tex., who issued a call to person-to-person "caring" on the mission field. Mrs. Guy and their son and daughter conducted a Vacation Bible school for MK's (missionary kids) each morning during the week.

POAU To Send Two Men To Vatican Council

WASHINGTON, D. C. (POAU) — Rev. C. Stanley Lowell, editor of CHURCH & STATE and its correspondent at the 1963 sessions of the Vatican Council, will again represent his publication at the 1965 session, and also head a service to 370 religious journals sponsored by POAU.

Accompanying Mr. Lowell will be the Rev. Gainer E. Bryan, editor of the Maryland Baptist whose way to the Council has been provided by friends of POAU and by his own publication, and Gioele Settembrini, associate in church relations at POAU, whose trip has also been provided by friends of that organization. Mr. Settembrini will also visit his parents who live in Italy. Mr. Settembrini's skill in the Italian language will be of substantial assistance to the group representing Americans United in Rome.

The state on religious liberty is tentatively scheduled as the first item on the Council agenda when it reconvenes. Questions of church-state policy may also receive consideration. Said Glenn L. Archer, executive director of Americans United: "The importance of these considerations to a church whose policies have traditionally been oppressive, and to other churches which have suffered as a result, is obvious."

These seventy students, together with the thirty-six third year students and the thirty-seven second year students, will give a total enrollment of 143 students of the 1965-66 academic year.

Thirty-one students will be graduated at Parkway Baptist Church on September 3, 1965. Dr. Robert Mayo, President of Hinds Junior College, will be the graduation speaker.

The curriculum of the school is designed to give nine months of academic preparations in pre-nursing courses at Hinds Junior College followed by twenty-seven months of instruction in the nursing care of medical, surgical, pediatric, maternal, and mental ill patients. The twelve full-time nursing instructors implement the philosophy that sound nursing educational policies are best fulfilled in the patient care area where adequate time is allotted for clinical practice concurrent with classroom instruction.

Expansion Anticipated

Expansion of the student recreational program is anticipated with the addition of a full-time director of student activities. Students can participate in basketball, softball, tennis, swimming, badminton, volleyball, ping pong, and many related activities. The student activity building is adjacent to the dormitory wing of the education unit.

The B.S.U. Director, Miss Kathryn Bearden, is planning a very full program for the 1965-66 academic year. Two of the projected programs are the medical missions conference to be held on the Gilfoy campus in October and the Southwide Focus week program. Miss Carolyn Chance, a junior student from Natchez, is the newly elected B.S.U. president.

Miss Kay Moss, student body president, will lead the student council during the 1965-66 year. Miss Moss is a junior student from Laurel. The school annual, The Chart, will be published under the direction of Mrs. Jeanne Watson, Activity Director, and the school paper, The Tribute, is being edited by Miss Betty Jo McPhail of Winaona.

The American Bible Society enters upon its 150th year in May 1965, but the first formally-organized local group was the Bible Society of Philadelphia established in 1808.

Would Name 1966 As 'Year Of The Bible'

WASHINGTON (BP) — A resolution introduced in both the U. S. Senate and the House of Representatives would name 1966 as "The Year of the Bible."

The resolution would serve as a tribute to the work of the American Bible Society. Sen. Claiborne Pell (D., R.I.) introduced the measure in the Senate, and Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen, Jr. (R., N.J.) introduced it in the House of Representatives. Both Pell and Frelinghuysen serve as vice presidents of the American Bible Society.

The constitution of the Society states that its "sole object" is to "encourage a wider circulation of the Holy Scriptures without note or comment."

Pell said that the resolution would serve "as a tribute to the notable past achievements of the society, an incentive to present purposes, and an expression of confidence in the future" of the organization. It would authorize the President to designate 1966 as "The Year of the Bible" and encourage the people of the United States to acquire a better knowledge and appreciation of the Scriptures.

Frelinghuysen pointed out that while the Bible has been translated into 1,202 languages it is now available in less than half the known languages of the world. The work of the American Bible Society in helping to meet this need is "indispensable," he stated.

The American Bible Society was founded in 1816 under the direction of Elias Boudinot, then president of the New Jersey Bible Society and a past President of the Continental Congress. It has published Bibles in more than 500 languages, and produces Scriptures in braille and on recordings for the blind.

Oregon-Wash. Plans 1966 Budget

PORTLAND, Ore. (BP) — The 1966 Cooperative Program budget of the Baptist General Convention of Oregon-Washington will be $13,800 higher than the present year's budget, if the executive board's proposal is adopted.

The convention's board approved a cooperative program budget for the coming year of $225,000. As in 1965, the Southern Baptist convention would receive 19 per cent for undesignated support of its national and world missions programs.

The total budget passed by the executive board for 1966 is $341,112 compared with $318,624 this year. The budget is subject to adoption by the state convention when it meets this fall in Spokane, Wash.

A committee seeking an executive secretary to lead the Oregon-Washington convention said it had no nomination to make at this meeting.

Murder Solves No Problems

Mississippians and other Southerners are appalled, shocked and grieved by the murder and attempted murders which have blighted Mississippi and Alabama in the last few days.

In Alabama last week, two ministers were shot down in what allegedly was a cold-blooded murderous act, with one of them dying instantly, and the other, at this time, still fighting for his life.

In Mississippi last Sunday night, a minister, returning to his apartment after a church service, was shot in the back by gunmen who had followed his car into the parking lot at the apartment building. He, too, at this writing is in serious condition.

Every right thinking person in this state, and elsewhere, condemns these heinous, dastardly acts, and hopes that the criminals quickly will be apprehended and prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

It makes no difference that these men had been active in civil rights movements. Many people disagree with them, and many question the wisdom of their actions, but this is America, and they had every right to do the things they have done, as long as they were abiding by the law.

We are sure that the majority of the people of Mississippi and Alabama are heart-sick because of these tragic deeds. They know that in an hour when tensions have been lessening, and reasonable men earnestly are seeking for, and finding, solutions for the problems which brought crisis, the man with the murderous gun in his hand, whether white or black, and whether in Los Angeles or Jackson, is not solving any problems but only making them infinitely worse.

These citizens back the forces of the law as they track down these criminals and hope they are able to do it quickly, before their states are thrown into more turmoil and strife.

Moreover, these same citizens will continue to work and pray earnestly that harmony, peace and righteousness may prevail throughout the states and the whole land.

Christian Education

School time is here again, and once more the Baptist Record presents its annual "Christian Education" or "Off to College" issue.

Since Christian education is being widely discussed just now, and several articles relative to it have been carried in recent issues, with more anticipated in the near future, we are using this special issue to tell only the story of the Baptist institutions themselves, and their plans for the coming year.

Mississippi Baptists support a tremendous program of Christian education and ministry to Baptist students. They own four colleges and one nurse's training school, with assets of more than 18½ million dollars in the colleges alone, according to last year's audit. It is probable that more than 4,000 students will enroll in these Baptist institutions this year. At the same time many more thousands of Baptist young people will be attending non-Baptist institutions, and through the Department of Student Work the convention is seeking to offer a ministry to every one of them.

The boards of trustees and administrators of the convention owned institutions are doing a splendid job and deserve the appreciation and support of every Baptist in the state.

The institutions are working under numerous handicaps and face ever enlarging problems. There are increasing demands for admission by more students as the college population grows. The schools are in competition with state supported institutions which have far greater financial support, and now are receiving increasing grants from the federal government. They also must compete with some private institutions which are accepting federal funds. The result is that our institutions must try to maintain quality education with financial resources far more limited than some of their competitors.

At the present time it is impossible to know what developments may come in Christian education within the next few years. Neither can one predict what the future of our Mississippi Baptist institutions. Great changes have been made in all of them within the past few years, and further changes can be expected in the years ahead.

Meanwhile, however, our responsibility is to undergird the schools by every possible means at our command. They must have our financial resources, our prayers, our moral backing and some of our finest young men and women as students. In return they will give a good stewardship of their responsibility by sending those young people back to us as trained Christian leaders for the state, the communities, the denomination and the churches.

Furthermore, we must greatly strengthen the Baptist student ministry on the non-Baptist campuses. Far more of the young people from our churches now attend state or other non-Baptist schools, than are in our own institutions. Through the Baptist student work a ministry for them and to them is provided on every campus in the state. This program must have larger support if it is to meet the needs of the vastly enlarging student bodies.

These demands create a real challenge for Mississippi Baptists, but they are able to meet it.

Let every Baptist join in giving support that this will be the greatest year Baptist Christian educational emphasis ever has known in this state.

Gulfshore Bible Conference

The fifth annual Gulfshore Bible Conference now is history.

It surpassed even the highest expectations of those who promoted it in attendance, in spirit and in spiritual blessings received by the participants.

Dr. Chester L. Quarles, director of the conference, and Tom Douglas, director of the Gulfshore assembly, had made every possible preparation for a great conference, and their efforts were not in vain.

Outstanding Bible teachers and preachers, from without and within the state, led in various types of Bible study and worship periods, and hundreds of persons shared in the blessings they brought.

Those who attended came away spiritually enriched, and many of them already are planning to attend the next conference to be held at the same time next August.

This conference pointed up once more the need for more hotel type rooms at Gulfshore. While more than half of the facilities there are rooms of that type, even more are needed. The dormitories can care for many boys and girls during other assemblies, but a meeting such as the Bible Conference is a family type conference, and private rooms are needed. The Bible Conference probably would double in size immediately if the rooms were available.

It is to be hoped that such additional facilities can be provided at Gulfshore in the not too far distant future. Perhaps some Mississippi Baptist has some of the Lord's money, or has some money he or she desires to give to the Lord's work, which could help provide such facilities. It would be an investment which would bring spiritual enrichment to the whole convention program for many years to come.

Correction

Errors sometimes appear in printed material, which even the most careful editing fails to detect. Such was true in last week's editorial. The editor had to leave his office to attend the Gulfshore Bible Conference, and did not have opportunity to proof-read the editorial. Had he done so he might have caught the mistake.

The error is in the first sentence of the last paragraph of the editorial, where the word "favorably" was inserted by mistake. The sentence reads "Baptists must discuss these matters favorably right now." This leaves the impression that only favorable discussion is desired. That this is not true is evident from preceding paragraphs.

The sentence should have read "Baptists must discuss these matters right now." Serious discussion is desired concerning the issues whatever position the contributor may take.

MISSIONARY AT SEVENTY

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Jackson, Sr. of Abilene, Texas, left Sunday, August 15, for a one year of teaching and preaching in Rabat, Morocco. Jackson, a seventy-three year old retired Texas Baptist pastor, has already had two, one-year terms of service teaching in Japan where his son, Dr. W. H. Jackson, Jr. serves as a missionary.

The Jacksons will be visiting in the home of a daughter and son-in-law, Victor Lipsey, who is a captain in the United States Air Force and the assistant Air Attache at the United States Embassy in Rabat.

Mrs. Jackson will be teaching, and possibly serve as principal for the American school sponsored by the United States Embassy. Jackson will serve as preacher and counselor for a number of preaching points started by American military personnel in that area.

Although there is no Baptist mission work officially under way in Morocco, Rev. Jackson hopes to lay some ground work for possible cultural and Christian crusades to Morocco by interested and talented lay Baptists of the United States.

Quito School Rates 'Superior'

The Baptist primary school in Quito, Ecuador, received the highest possible rating—superior—as a result of end-of-the-year examinations conducted by the Ecuadorian Ministry of Education.

The five-year-old school enrolled 154 boys and girls in kindergarten through grade five during the 1964-65 term. The sixth grade will be added at the beginning of the next term.

Missionary Stanley D. Stamps is director of the school, and Mrs. Stamps taught English last year. A missionary journeyman has been employed by the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board to teach English for the next two years.

PRIVILEGES, PROBLEMS

While no two persons have the same fingerprints and each of us is a distinct individual, yet we have many similarities. On this spinning planet we find ourselves thrown together in many of the common ventures of life. The ties that bind are probably stronger than the walls that separate. We would like to think that our circumstances are unique and different from all others. But this is hardly true.

What is true is the fact that human beings react differently to the same set of circumstances. To some, life is one big problem. To others, life is a privilege. With the first fellow, the weather is bad whether the sun is shining or clouds hang heavy. Those who view life as a problem expect the worse and often find it. Failing to find trouble on any given day, they manufacture it! But those who view life as a privilege greet each day with enthusiasm, energy, and boundless hope. They are incurable optimists!

Many of us excuse our suspicious, self-centered, pessimistic way of living on the grounds that we have more trouble than others. "If the fellow who goes around singing tra-la-las all day had my burdens, he would be glum too," we say. But that's just the point! How we face and accept life is not so much a matter of the trials we face, but our inner attitudes. So long as we blame circumstances for our gloominess, we are likely to stay that way. But when we recognize that we can change our outlook even though we may not be able to change our circumstances, we are on the way to viewing life as a privilege and not a problem.

We know that is true from watching other people. But do not understand ourselves? Is our daily lot a privilege or a problem? Each must answer for himself.

Anger does a man more hurt than that which makes him angry. It opens his mouth and shuts his eyes, and fires his heart and drowns his sense, and makes his wisdom folly.—Henry D. Northrop

BAPTIST BELIEFS

THE DELAY OF JESUS

"Lord, by this time he stinketh: for he hath been dead four days" (John 11:39).

Jesus was east of the Jordan, possibly a two-days journey from Bethany, in the area where John the Baptist had begun his ministry. A messenger came from Bethany telling Him that Lazarus was ill. He delayed two days before going to the village. Why this delay?

It is possible that Jesus knew that Lazarus was already dead. Hence, He could not heal him. However, one would think that He would have hastened to Bethany to comfort the bereaved sisters. Yet He delayed two days before going to them. Jesus had a greater blessing in store for them than either healing or comfort (John 11:14-15).

The clue to the meaning of Jesus' delay is seen in the fact that when He arrived in Bethany Lazarus had been dead four days. Jesus delayed two days; it probably took Him two days to go to Bethany. Hence, four days.

Jesus proposed to raise Lazarus from the dead. He would show His power over death. There must be no question about Lazarus being really dead. No grounds should be left to explain this miracle in any other way. So when Jesus came to the tomb Lazarus body had had time to begin decaying.

But the "four days" probably have another significance. Lightfoot quotes a Jewish tradition to the effect that when a body died the soul hovered about the tomb for three days in hopes of re-entering the body. On the fourth day, it departed. Certainly Jesus did not believe this. It is probably that neither the two sisters nor the apostles did so. But it must have been a popular belief among the Jews.

So Jesus accommodated His actions to this tradition. After Lazarus was considered truly dead even according to Jewish tradition, Jesus raised him from the dead. Thus there could be no basis of denying or explaining away this miracle. Even the Sadducees did not deny it (John 11:47; 12:10).

Jesus truly is the Lord over death.

Wiping water off the walls and floors seemed quite a chore until we went to the refugee camps and saw they had no walls or floors.—Jeanine (Mrs. J. Conrad) Willmon, missionary to Lebanon.

SHIELDS OF BRASS by C. Roy Angell (Broadman, 128 pp., $2.75)

One of Southern Baptists' outstanding pulpites and greatest story tellers presents another volume of his unusual sermons. No man among us can take a great illustration and build a scriptural sermon about it as effectively as can C. Roy Angell, but at the same time no man can take a simple text or scriptural truth and find it in richer truth than can he. Here are 14 sermons, dealing with issues that concern all Christians. The messages are scripturally based, clear in outline and rich in illustration. The book will be a source of numerous sermon and devotional talk ideas, but at the same time will bring rich blessing as devotional reading. A must book for preachers, others who speak often, and for church libraries.

A LAYMAN'S GUIDE TO BAPTIST BELIEFS by Harold F. Pickett, Jr. (Zondervan, 184 pp., $3.50)

Baptists need to teach their lay members the doctrines of our faith. It is with this conviction that this Baptist pastor prepares this book. In simple terms he discusses the basic tenets of the Baptist faith. There are chapters on the Bible, Salvation, the Church, the Ordinances, Evangelism, Money, Eternal Security and the Hereafter. A final chapter gives an outline of the origin of dogmas which Baptists reject. With clear outline, with effective arguments, and with wide use of scripture, the author effectively presents these great truths which make Baptists what they are.

FIRST BROADMAN DICTIONARY READY FOR YOUNG READERS

NASHVILLE — The first dictionary to come from Broadman Press, "A Bible Dictionary for Young Readers" by William N. McElrath, was written to help boys and girls understand what they read in their Bibles.

This new dictionary with 2,000 entries is a book of distinctive features. Young readers (9-16 reading age) may find in it the present-day location of many Bible cities and towns, condensed biographies of major Bible characters, definitions of unfamiliar words and terms found in the King James Version, and brief analyses of Bible books.

Also, the dictionary gives the meanings of Bible words no longer in our everyday speech and of words not actually in the Bible, but commonly associated with Bible study, such as trinity and beatitudes. Derivations of words are sometimes included.

Words that have special meaning in the Bible, such as repent, kingdom of Heaven, sin and baptism are defined. Bible references are given with all proper nouns and with common nouns where needed for clarity. Proper nouns are self-pronounced with a pronunciation key.

Although "A Bible Dictionary for Young Readers" includes King James words, its scope has been widened so that it might be useful to young people no matter which version of the Bible they read," said Mrs. Lillian Moore Rice, children's book editor for Broadman Press.

The 128-page dictionary contains 85 illustrations in black or one color by Nashville artist Don Fields, illustrator of "How the Bible Came to Us," a 1964 Broadman release for boys and girls.

William N. McElrath completed "A Bible Dictionary for Young Readers" shortly before he and his wife Betty left the United States earlier this year to begin their first term of service as Southern Baptist missionaries to Indonesia. From 1959 until his appointment, McElrath was editor of junior lesson courses in the Sunday School Board's Sunday School Department.

Other Broadman books by McElrath are: "Jamie Ireland, Freedom's Champion" and "Great Passages of the Bible." He also wrote "Butch Discovers America" in the home mission study series, 1961.

"A Bible Dictionary for Young Readers" and McElrath's other Broadman books are available at Baptist book stores.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON—

The Pressures From Without

By Clifton J. Allen
Ephesians 6:10-20;

James 4:1-8; I John 2:15-17

The Christian must live in an evil world. This means that Christian growth is hindered by the evil forces of the world order. It behooves Christians to understand the nature and strength of their spiritual enemies. Three passages in our larger Bible lesson interpret the conflict Christians must face and counsel them as to the sure means of overcoming the evil forces of a sinful world. They must put on the whole armor of God and depend upon his strength (Eph. 6:10-20). They must subdue the evil desires in their hearts, resist the devil, and draw near to God with penitence and sincerity (James 4:1-8). They must give up love for the satisfactions and practices of the world and commit themselves fully to doing the will of God (I John 2:15-17).

THE LESSON EXPLAINED THE WILES OF THE DEVIL (vv. 10-12)

Christians need to be fortified; they need to be joined in union with Christ. Thus they will grow stronger and have all the strength needed through the power of his might. If they put on the whole armor of God, they will be able to stand against the wiles or stratagems of the devil. In verse 12 Paul states the opposition we face. The context is not primarily with human foes. It is against a hierarchy of invisible powers in rebellion against God. There are combines of evil represented as principalities, powers, world rulers of darkness, and spiritual hosts of evil. This hierarchy of evil spirits finds expression in such evil forces as organized crime, organized vice and intemperance, organized injustice, organized atheism, organized, religious persecution, and organized exploitation of entertainment or art or even religion. These evil forces, under the supervision of Satan, seek to gain control of the world order and defeat the purpose of God for humanity.

THE ARMOR OF GOD (vv. 13-17)

Christians have a sure defense in the armor of God. The armor is provided by God, but Christians must put it on, wear it, and use it. If they do this, they will be able to resist every kind of evil, and when they have withstood evil successfully in special trials or satanic attacks, they will still be able to stand firm and ready for other assaults.

Paul used the soldier's armor for a telling illustration of the armor of God. Christians are to be girt about with truth—be committed to truthfulness as God has revealed it in Christ. They are to have the breastplate of righteousness—be committed to what is right as God has revealed it in Christ and as he makes possible real righteousness through Christ. They are to be shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace—be in readiness for life and conflict through the peace that comes from Christ. Christians are to resist every vicious attack of Satan. The Christian is to receive the helmet of salvation—put his hope in the salvation of Christ, trust in his grace and mercy however poorly the Christian life may be lived. And always the Christian is to take the sword of the Spirit, the offensive weapon in warfare against evil—fight against iniquity with the truth of the gospel, confident of its power.

THE POWER OF PRAYER (vv. 18-20)

The Christian is to be faithful in the practice of prayer. It is to be earnest intercession. It is to be the recourse in every crisis of temptation and in every undertaking in the name of Christ. Prayer is to be made "in the Spirit," depending on the Spirit as a great prayer partner and counting on his direction. And along with prayer, there is to be vigilance against temptation and personal weakness, and also perseverance with no thought of growing weary or giving up as one prays for himself and for others.

Paul's appeal to the Christians to be remembered in their prayers suggests the concern which all Christians should have now for one another. As much as anything, they need to pray for boldness in giving their Christian witness and for wisdom in declaring God's wondrous purpose of redemption in the gospel. Prayer can become a mighty means for the deliverance of persons from persecution, for overthrowing the strongholds of wickedness, and for setting forward redemption and righteousness in the earth.

Truities to Live By
The attacks of Satan are subtle, fierce, and constant. Christians can never afford to be off guard as to moral and spiritual warfare. Satan never ceases his efforts. At times the assault is direct and vicious, at other times indirect and extremely subtle. Satan is at work in this world, using human beings as his agents and using the whole hierarchy of evil spirits, with one determined purpose to undermine righteousness, to defeat Christ's work of redemption, to spread hate, and to corrupt and enslave the people of the world. If Christians do not wake up to the terror and peril of the conflict in which they are engaged, they will lose their chance to make a new thrust for the gospel into the world's life.

Christian growth requires resistance to the pressure of a pagan world.—The spirit of the secular or pagan order is anti-Christian. It ridicules the idea and the ideal of chastity and self-control. It discourages ambition for moral excellence and the practice of Christian virtues. Therefore, the only way for a Christian to grow toward full maturity in Christ is by resisting the pressure of the world's spirit. But the Christian with stamina to resist will be both challenge and inspiration to the persons around him striving to achieve something of the goodness and strength of Christ the Lord.

The strength of the Lord is great.—Let Christians never be dismayed. No matter how strong the world rulers of darkness and the powers and principalities of evil, the strength of the Lord is infinitely greater. Let Christians remember: Jesus was never defeated. The grace of the Lord is sufficient for us; his strength is made perfect in our weakness, if we but yield ourselves completely to his will and depend upon his strength for victory.

To do the will of God is not always easy; it is always right.—Newman R. McLarry, pastor of Northwest Baptist Church, Oklahoma City, in "His Good and Perfect Will," (Broadman Press, 1965).

THE PRESIDENT'S HOME on the William Carey College campus will be the scene on September 17 for the annual President's Reception for new students and new faculty members. Seven new faculty members will be in the receiving line, along with President and Mrs. Ralph Noonkester.

To Honor New Students

President and Mrs. Ralph Noonkester will honor new students and new faculty members at a reception in the President's Home. At this time the following new faculty and staff will be welcomed to the Carey family: Dr. and Mrs. Albert Green, coming as Dean of Students and instructor in the Athletic Department respectively; Dr. William B. Clawson, visiting professor of Bible during his furlough year from the mission field in Mexico; Travis Pittman, assistant professor of accounting and business administration; Ralph Rogers, assistant professor of history; Miss Josephine D'Arpa, Carey alumna of 1960, returning to teach voice in the Music Department; Miss Opal Young, assistant professor of Physical Education; and Mrs. Marjorie Rowden, Director of Public Relations, who will become an assistant professor in the Religious Education Department.

Mr. Bill Mitchell has been named Director of Admissions. He has recently been elected president of the Mississippi Association of College Admissions Counselors.

Two other changes involve Dr. Don Stewart and Miss Jeanette Redford. Dr. Stewart leaves the position of Dean of Men to become Head of the newly created Bible Department. Miss Jeanette Redford will continue as Dean of Women but will be moved from the Religious Education Department to the Education and Psychology Department as Assistant Professor.

Curriculum Changes
One of the big curriculum changes taking place this fall at Carey is the replacing of the old division system by the new departmental system.

The construction of the $500,000 Thomas Fine Arts Center has begun on the front campus. The building will be ready for occupancy in September, 1966. It will contain facilities for the entire Fine Arts Department plus a 1200 seat air-conditioned auditorium with a concert-size stage. The Center is being built with funds raised during the 1963 Development Campaign.

Morrison's Food Service will assume all dining room responsibilities at Carey on September 1. This is one of the major steps forward in the providing of more complete and adequate student services on the campus. Dr. Albert Green, new Dean of Students, will at that same time begin directing an entirely new student program in every area.

"We have appreciated the fine support of Mississippi Baptists for our program at William Carey College," said Dr. Noonkester. "We look forward to another year fully confident that the blessings of the Lord will be upon our school as it seeks to provide quality Christian education in South Mississippi."

Regalado, Home Missionary, Dies

DEMING, N. M. (BP) — Domingo Martinez Regalado, 63, Southern Baptist home missionary to the Spanish-speaking people in New Mexico, died here August 16.

Funeral services for the Seguin, Tex., native were held in Deming, August 19. He is survived by his wife and nine children—eight boys and one girl.

Hobbs Returns To The Air

Dr. Herschel H. Hobbs returns to the air as "Baptist Hour" speaker Sunday, August 29, after having been away from the program since May. This marks the beginning of his eighth year as regular preacher on this international broadcast.

"Wonderful Words of Life" is the theme Dr. Hobbs will follow in his preaching through November. His first five sermons will be from the book of John.

"The Baptist Hour" is now being carried by a new all-time high of 566 radio stations throughout this country and abroad. The audience for this weekly program has been estimated at 20 million.

Sermon titles for the five are: "The Gospel in Superlatives," August 29; "The Grammar of the Gospel," September 5; "The Divine Substitute," September 12; "Holding or Held?", September 19; and "Do You Want To Live Forever?", September 26.

REV. FINLEY EVANS has resigned as pastor of Gum Springs Church in Simpson County, in order to accept the pastorate of Pilgrim's Rest Church, Route 1, Crystal Springs. He began his new duties on August 15.

New Staffers

The beginning of the new session will find several new members of the faculty and staff. Mr. J. Clifford Watson, the new Dean of the College began his work with the summer session, succeeding Dean Therman V. S. degrees from the University of Indiana and has had wide experience in the field of education as teacher and administrator.

Rev. James H. Street assumed his duties as Public Relations Director August 1, coming from a position in the Public Relations Department of the New Orleans Baptist Seminary. He is a graduate of Mississippi College and attended the Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky for two years.

years as Secretary of the Brotherhood Department of the Mississippi Baptist Convention Board.

Mr. James B. He attended Clarke College and Mississippi College and holds the B. C. M. and M. C. M. degrees from the New Orleans Baptist Seminary.

He has served for several years as Minister of Music at

She has done graduate work in music and music education at the University of Southern Mississippi, Tulane, and the New Orleans Seminary. She has been a teacher of public school music and choral director in the public schools of Meridian.

Another risk of driving after drinking is noted in tests reported by the Highway Research Board. Tests showed that a couple of drinks of 86-proof whiskey after dinner reduced by nearly fifty feet the distance that drivers could see ahead on the highway when driving at night.

THE OLD CHAPEL at Mississippi College is now lighted at night so visitors can enjoy its beauty around the clock.

will be on duty to assist the entering collegians.

Orientation and registration of freshmen will take place on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 13 and 14, while transfers, upperclass, and full-time graduate students will begin registering on Wednesday, Sept. 15.

Classes will meet on a reduced schedule for the first time on Thursday, with Friday designated as the first full day of academic work on the regular schedule.

Registration will take place in the B. C. Rogers Student Center. The once long and drawn out procedure, modernized last fall with the aid of the IBM 1620 computer, will be even speedier this year thanks to more efficient knowledge and better use of the intricate machine.

Students enrolling in the Evening School program will register on Thursday evening, Sept. 16, starting at 6:30 p.m. in Nelson Hall. Students taking Saturday classes only will also register at this time. The Evening School program is conducted for the benefit of those who find it necessary to work during the day, but who desire a college education. A student may earn a degree through the Evening School program.

Also aiding in the speedier registration process will be a new identification camera recently purchased by the college and being used for the first time. Operating on the same basis as a Polaroid camera, the new apparatus will allow the student to have his picture taken at the start of the registration line, with the finished ID card, laminated and validated, ready for him by the time he reaches the last station in the line.

Enrollment Up

The rapid registration procedure will especially be helpful in view of the fact that the college Admissions Office records indicate that there will be a 14 percent increase in new students. The figures show that 363 freshmen and 263 transfers have completed applications for enrollment for the 1965-66 school year.

During the 12-month session which ended this month, the college population continued its upward trend, with 2,539 individual students taking advantage of the educational opportunities offered by Mississippi Baptists' oldest, and Southern Baptists' second oldest, senior college. These students came from 78 Mississippi counties, 25 states, six foreign countries, and the District of Columbia.

The 2,539 figure was a new all-time high for the college. Only four Mississippi counties failed to have a representative in the student body—Benton, Issaquena, Itawamba and Prentiss. A state-by-state breakdown showed that 87 percent of the student body were Mississippians, a credit to both the college and to Mississippi Baptist.

Further study of the record enrollment revealed that 87 percent of the students were members of the Baptist denomination. The remaining 13 percent was distributed among 23 other denominations, with the Methodists placing second in point of numbers. Of the total number of Baptist students, over 400 were preparing for church related vocations, including 172 for the preaching ministry, 21 for religious education, 38 for foreign mission service, 16 for home mission work, 17 as youth directors, two as student directors, one for medical missions and the remaining as church musicians and other related fields.

These students participated actively in the work of the Baptist denomination, with 21 serving as student summer missionaries in fields throughout the continental United States, plus Germany, Trinidad, Jamaica, and Hawaii. In other areas of Christian service, a large number served on the staff of Ridgecrest and Glorieta assemblies. A host of others served on student revival teams throughout the state and the South and in various leadership positions in the churches of the same general area. During the school year some 70 youth teams visited churches over the state, presenting the gospel in message and song.

Buildings Renovated
With the opening of each new academic session, the students are subjected to some major changes which have taken place during the summer months. This year will be no exception.

The most extensive project was the installation of central heating and air conditioning in Hederman Hall and Gunter Hall, two women's residences. The new equipment replaces the antiquated facilities and provides the college with two more first-class residences. The interior of both buildings has also been repainted.

The south wing of Ratliff Hall, a men's residence, has undergone a complete renovation during the summer and will be ready for occupancy at the start of the fall semester. The remodeling project has included new tile wash rooms, interior patch work, fresh paint, and new floor tile. New, modern furnishing will be placed in every room. The wing will house upperclass men.

In keeping with the college's planned program of campus beautification, several areas of the college will have a "new look" when students reassemble in September. Among the most noticeable will be the entrance way from Highway 80. The new street which was opened up east of the student center the latter part of last year has been lighted with new and bright mercury vapor lamps. A sidewalk has been installed and landscaping has been completed.

The new light standards have also been erected along the street which runs in front of Latimer - Webb Hall. The historic Old Chapel, a landmark in central Mississippi, now has two mercury vapor spotlights zeroed in on its face a night, enabling visitors to the campus to enjoy its beauty around the clock. The outside of the student center also has new lighting equipment.

The southeast corner of the campus, commonly called "the grove", has also undergone a face lifting which adds to the attractiveness of the overall grounds. The improvements include the tiling and covering of a drainage ditch, removal of dying or decayed trees, grading and landscaping.

New Courses
Changing times necessitate a change in courses. In attempting to provide a curriculum that would best serve the needs of the present day student, several new courses have been added to the college offerings for the coming year.

In the Division of Religion, Bible 306, the History of Southern Baptists, has been added. The course is designed to orient the student with the organization of the Southern Baptist Convention and the development of its agencies, institutions, and organizations through 1945.

The Division of Business and Economics will have two new courses available. They are Governmental Accounting, a study of procedures for governmental units, with emphasis on budgetary and fund accounts, and Retail Merchandising, a study of the organization and management of retail establishments.

The departments of English and French in the Division of Humanities have also added several new courses. New offerings in English include News and Newspaper Writing, European Culture, and Renaissance, Non - Dramatic Literature. The European Culture course consists of six weeks of European travel, plus corollary reading and a paper on some area of concentration.

The new French courses are Nineteenth Century French Literature and Twentieth Century French Literature.

Faculty Additions
To meet the demands caused by the heavy influx of new students coming to study on the undergraduate and graduate level, new and additional personnel have been acquired.

New faculty members added to the teaching staff are Mrs. Margaret L. Craig, assistant professor of education; Phillips R. McCarty, instructor in religious education; Marvin E. Elliott, instructor in chemistry; Billy James Williams, instructor in biology; Patricia Ann Puckett, instructor in math; Verbie Ann Lovorn, instructor in English; John Paul Jones, assistant professor of music; Leo P. Jones, instructor in physical education; James M. Coleman, instructor in physical education; Kenneth T. Rainey, instructor in history; Roland Shaw, instructor in music; Mrs. Beverly Shaw, instructor in music; William R. Trotter, instructor in music; Macon M. Weaver, instructor in Biology and; Billy D. Lytal, instructor in drama and speech.

The Man from MP&L

His Teamwork Isn't Just From Eight To Five . . .

C. P. "Chick" Haffey is typical of the folks at MP&L. Chick coaches a Little League team . . . spends hour after hour every week building character while improving "pitching arms". The teamwork of other MP&L folks takes the form of Sunday School teaching . . . or Chamber of Commerce committee work . . . or leadership in the local P.T.A. But all of them work hard at two jobs: assuring an ample supply of electric power, and being good citizens in the communities they serve. You see, the folks at MP&L believe good citizenship is the price you pay for living in a free society . . . and they like it that way!

Big Creek (Wayne) Celebrates 100th Year

On Sunday July 25, Big Creek Church celebrated its 100th anniversary of Christian service. More than 100 worshippers participated in the Sunday morning worship hour, the first in a series of revival services brought Rev. Arlen Mills of Wyckoff Baptist Church, Brooklyn, New York. Mr. Mills was pastor of Big Creek Church more than 26 years ago and returned to lead the church in its revival in this 100th year.

After the morning services, many visitors came from other churches and all enjoyed a bountiful lunch on the church premises.

A congregation song service began at 1 o'clock. Rev. I. O. Anderson, the pastor of Big Creek, welcomed visitors and recognized those who were present. Mr. Anderson asked for a show of hands of all those connected in some way with Big Creek Church. With the exception of Rev. and Mrs. Ben Goddard, Wayne and Greene Association missionaries, the entire congregation were, or had been in the past, connected with Big Creek Church. The oldest members of the congregation were Jim Mills, and Print Jones, both age 84. Mr. and Mrs. Dave Cochran, ages 79 and 77, respectively, were present.

Cecil Mills read a letter to the congregation from Rev. John Merritt, a former pastor of Big Creek Church, who is now serving as a missionary in Vicenza, Italy.

The Hall sisters, visitors from Mobile, (Paul Harmon, and Rufus Baygents, provided special music.

The history of Big Creek Church was read by Rev. Sam Cochran, who closed with the moving challenge that, if the Lord delays His coming for another 100 years, the people now working in Big Creek Church should provide an even more substantial history of spiritual growth for the historian of the future. "We should not," said Bro. Sam, "be so proud of the past that we neglect the challenge of today and the promise of tomorrow."

The Centennial Sermon, brought by Rev. Ben W. Goddard, was based on a text from 1 Samuel 7:12. "Then Samuel took a stone and set it between Mizpeh and Shen and called the name of it Ebenezer, saying, 'Hitherto hath the Lord helped us.'" Goddard's message, entitled "100 Years—Looking Both Ways," was a challenging reminder that the same Lord who directed the worship of the church before it had a building in which to gather, must also direct its growth until the Lord comes.

The service closed with a hymn of dedication by Rufus Baygents, and a benedictory prayer by Ed Douglas, former deacon of Big Creek Church.

JIMMY FAUVER, eighteen, was licensed to preach July 18. Son of Mrs. Willard Fauver and the late Mr. Fauver of Route 5, Brookhaven, he is a graduate of West Lincoln High School and is now attending Copiah-Lincoln Junior College. He is a member of New Prospect Church, Rev. John R. Sartin, Jr., pastor.
